TEAM BRAZIL GUIDE

SANTIAGO 2023

PRESENTATION

PAULO WANDERLEY

Presidente of the Brazilian Olympic Committee

The Brazilian delegation to the Santiago 2023 Pan American Games is the largest in international events, with more than 600 athletes competing. A huge challenge for everyone involved in what is the second most important multi-sport event in the Olympic cycle - a shorter cycle that ends with the Paris 2024 Olympic Games. In Santiago, we have a challenging mission: to keep Brazil in the top three of the competition.

Our delegation will be represented in more than 50 sports. In addition to the search for results at the Pan American Games themselves, we will be competing for Olympic places. In all, 21 disciplines will give us direct places in Paris. Others will count towards the Olympic rankings or indexes. One more reason to follow the competition closely and with the importance it deserves.

All the Brazilian athletes who will be in action in the Chilean capital are listed here, in the Team Brazil Santiago 2023 Guide, with their profiles and sporting histories, as well as other data and curiosities.

The publication is available in three languages (Portuguese, English and Spanish) and, as well as being an object of publicity, its function is also to bring our delegation closer to all possible audiences, through various communication and content platforms. Our guide is therefore a valuable source of information for those who, like me, are passionate about Brazilian Olympic sport.

Olympic greetings!

CHIEF OF MISSION

ROGÉRIO SAMPAIO

Director General of the Brazilian Olympic Committee

Rogério Sampaio began his sporting life at the age of four, practicing judo in his hometown of Santos. Already with South American and Pan American titles under his belt, he won Olympic gold in Barcelona 1992, beating five opponents, including the then world champion, German Udo Quellmalz. The following year, he moved up a weight category and won bronze at the World Championships in Hamilton, Canada.

After his career as an athlete, he moved into sports management. Among other positions, he was national secretary of the Brazilian Doping Control Authority (ABCD) and national secretary of High Performance Sport at the Ministry of Sport. Since 2018 he has been director-general of the BOC and has been directly involved in preparing the delegation for historic performances at the Lima 2019 Pan American Games and the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games.
